

Hi Samuel,

3/13/13

My name is Elsy Romero.

Your penpal moved schools.

I noticed that the savanna has many different natural resources than the wetlands.

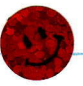

I read your book on the Leopard. I liked the leopard drawing on the cover. Oh, now

I am ready to answer your questions. I realized that it camouflages by its spots and by the color of its coat; it camouflages on the grass. The scientific name of a leopard is "panthero pardus". The leopard eats meat and domestic animals.

Sincerely,
Elsy
